Conferences are not expected to excuse themselves from paying the Council dues because of the cases being handled in their jurisdiction. He further reeled out the powers, responsibilities of conference presidents thus:

- i. It is the responsibility conference presidents to participate actively in the Council activities as they are board members of the Central Council.
- ii. Conference presidents are custodian of their various conferences and will be held responsible for anything that happens in their domain.
- iii. It is equally the responsibility of the conference presidents to pay the dues to the Council promptly.
- iv. Conference presidents don't need the permission of their members to pay higher council levies.

The Council president also advised the conference presidents to:

- i. Be firm with the rules of the society
- ii. Desist from ridiculing or making derogatory remarks against the higher Council.
- iii. Be sensitive to the needs of their conference members and always organize trainings.
- iv. Always cooperate with their conference patrons and consult the Central Council in critical matters.
- v. Report to the Central Council whenever you are incapacitated or incapable of running the affairs of your conference.
- vi. Conduct elections as and when due and inform your parish priest and the Central Council 6 months and 3 months, respectively before expiration of your tenure.
- vii. Uphold the integrity of the Society by being accountable and loyal to the Church
- viii. Not to work in isolation of the Church and other societies. The society is not more charitable than the Church and the Society is not better than other Societies in the Church. All are instituted by the Holy Spirit in diversity of Charism.
- ix. Take the rules of the Society seriously as it has earned the Society enormous integrity.
- x. Always remember that we are all here for our personal sanctification.

12.10 St. Damian Conference (Church of Assumption) Asokoro:

The conference president, Bro. Phillip Nyam drew the attention of the Council to the ugly happenings in their conference that has pitched the Parish priest against the leadership of the conference.

He said that St. Damian Conference, in the last four (4) years has been going through a lot of challenges which bothers on the parish priest's distrust on the ways the society handles its activities. Efforts were made to resolve issues and were thought to have been resolved until recently.

The immediate problem, he averred, is a standing order to the conference from the parish priest to handle all cases from him even if it is outside the conference jurisdiction.

Also, the parish priest, for reasons best known to him, decided to restructure the Society and as such demanded he give him six (6) names and later ten (10) names insisting he cannot work with a crowd which he declined.

At the last Parish Pastoral Council (PPC) meeting, the parish priest presented the issue and sought the permission of the PPC to choose people to work with and he got the approval.

He (conference president) was summoned by the Vice Chairman PPC to meet with him this evening. He had planned to inform the Central Council appropriately, of this development in his conference after meeting with the Vice Chairman.

Responding to this submission, Sir. Peter Aliu, the president of Holy Family conference, said that as Bishops decides for spiritual purposes what happens in his diocese such also goes for priests in their parishes. He advised that we have to carry along the parish priests in our activities and we should not be carried away by emotions and sentiments. The church is structured in such a way that the bishops and

	priests are absolutely in charge of whatever happens in their jurisdictions. He advised that the Council handle this issue with caution. The president of the Council informed St. Damian Conference president and the board members to wait behind after the meeting for further discussions on the matter.
